

NEWS RELEASE

AMISore Launch Imminent

New app store for AmigaOS developers and enthusiasts

AmiWest 2014 25th October 2014

A-EON Technology Ltd is pleased to announce the imminent release of AMISore, its new dedicated app store for AmigaOS.

To complement our hardware investment in the AmigaONE next generation systems, A-EON has developed a software platform which runs in AmigaOS.

AMISore was created to provide an easy to browse and download shop front for the latest digital AmigaOS software titles whether they are games, applications, media or utilities.

Developers can easily showcase, host sell their work without high costs and deliver their creations without the headache of distribution and administration. This offloads developers and enables them to devote more time to developing exciting new titles for the AmigaOS. AMISore additionally offers a selection of free digital downloads from leading Amiga developers.

Key AMISore features include:

- Simple login with AMISphere username and passwords

- Automatic check for program updates and new products every time you log into AMISore
- New gift to friends option
- Downloadable statement of purchase history

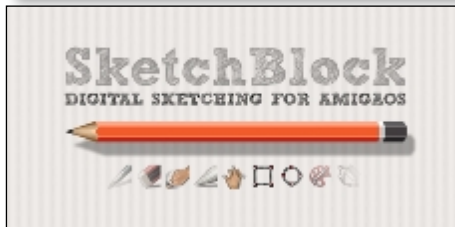

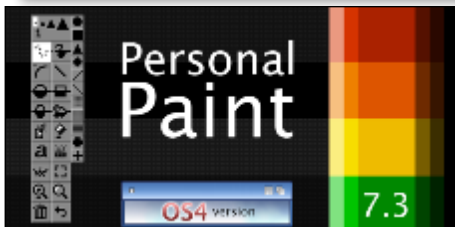

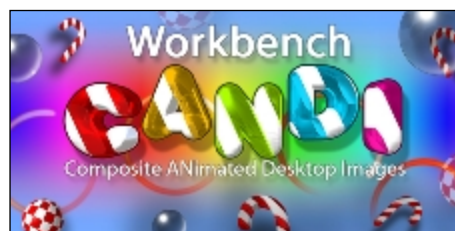

Benefits for Developers:

- Profits re-invested into new hardware and software development with Amiga developers
- Help developers ease the headache of supporting and distributing their work
- Automated payment and collection system
- Very low commission, varying from 9% to 19% depending of the key nature of the software

For more AMISore information please visit: www.amisore.net

*AMISore Production Credits:
Matthew Leaman, Hans Joerg Frieden,
Martin Merz, Kevin Saunders, AMISore
Beta Test Team*

Launch date: November 10th, 2014

App store for AmigaOS Developers & Users

